During the programme, faculty members of the department elaborated on various aspects of professional ethics, including:

- Academic integrity and avoidance of malpractice.
- Respectful behavior with peers, faculty, and staff.
- Responsible use of technology and digital platforms.
- The importance of punctuality, discipline, and teamwork.
- Awareness of the institution's Code of Conduct and its role in creating a positive learning environment.

The session also included interactive discussions, where students shared their views and clarified doubts about ethical dilemmas they may encounter. The orientation concluded with a pledge by students to uphold professional values and contribute positively to the academic culture of the college.

Overall, the programme was highly informative and successful in sensitizing the new batch of students towards the significance of professional ethics and code of conduct. The department looks forward to nurturing a culture of responsibility, respect, and excellence among its students.
